

As proud Philadelphians who take their responsibility to the community seriously, the Eagles believe there is no offseason to good citizenship.

Since Jeffrey Lurie became Chairman and CEO in 1994, the Eagles have made it a priority to strengthen and support a high quality of life for individuals throughout the Greater Philadelphia area. Under Lurie's leadership, and by leveraging their platform as a professional sports team, the Eagles work to inspire, motivate, and educate in everything they do.

Through a commitment to social justice efforts and inspiring change, forming collaborative partnerships with area-based nonprofits, growing the game of football at the youth level, and more, the Eagles are honored to give back in ways that have the power to positively impact the lives of individuals everywhere.

The team takes great pride in serving its fans, local nonprofits, and the region at large, because to the Eagles, making the community proud is just as important off the field as it is on it.

COMMUNITY TUESDAYS

During the NFL season, Tuesdays are typically reserved as non-practice days for the team. Many Eagles players use this opportunity to enhance the quality of life for residents in the Greater Philadelphia region through the Eagles Care Community Tuesday initiative.

Eagles players visit Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, elementary schools, food pantries, retirement facilities, Eagles Care partners, and more.

EAGLES CARE

The Eagles Care initiative, built off the belief that strong nonprofits build strong communities, connects the team with local organizations and works to strengthen each partner's impact in the community.

Through these partnerships, the Eagles devote their attention, support, and resources to ensure that each nonprofit's work is being amplified. Since 2013, the team has welcomed 30 nonprofits to the Eagles Care family.

EAGLES EYE MOBILE

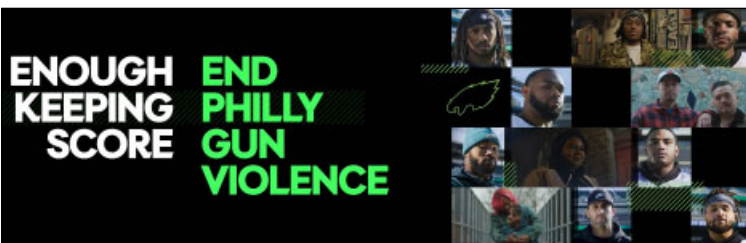

The Eagles Eye Mobile powered by Vision To Learn travels to communities throughout the School District of Philadelphia, offering comprehensive eye exams and, if needed, prescription eyeglasses and follow-up care at no cost to families.

The Eagles Eye Mobile, which was founded by former Eagles Pro Bowl guard Jermaine Mayberry, has impacted nearly 100,000 children in the Greater Philadelphia area since 1996.

EAGLES SOCIAL JUSTICE FUND OF THE PHILADELPHIA FOUNDATION

Established in 2018, the Eagles Social Justice Fund was formed to provide grants to organizations that work to reduce barriers to equal opportunity, with a specific focus on education, community and police relations, improving the criminal justice system, and other initiatives targeting poverty, racial equality, and workforce development in the Greater Philadelphia area.

The Eagles Social Justice Leadership Council is led by a panel of players and club executives that works to identify potential grant recipients and secures contributions to the Fund, which is built through one-to-one matching donations from players and the club. In just four years, the program has allocated more than $1.6 million in funding.

To help combat the increasing violence facing thousands of Philadelphia residents, the Eagles launched a targeted anti-gun violence campaign in January 2022. In conjunction with local nonprofits and the City, the team created a resource website, EndPhillyGunViolence.com, which has been designed to aggregate information and steer young people to proven and effective help.

The Eagles joined the Wear Orange movement on June 3, 2022, by wearing orange practice shirts on the field to commemorate survivors and those who have fallen victim to gun violence. All player shirts worn at practice were listed on NFL Auction, with proceeds benefiting Frontline Dads and Mothers In Charge.

As an additional measure to help reduce gun violence in the community, the Philadelphia Police Department held a gun buyback event at Lincoln Financial Field on June 6. The event was supported by the Eagles and the Center for Violence Prevention at CHOP.

YOUTH FOOTBALL

The Eagles are dedicated to inspiring the next generation of Eagles fans by increasing participation in youth football across the Greater Philadelphia area.

The team accomplishes this through program development, equipment donations, and financial support. League platforms (NFL PLAY 60, NFL FLAG, Eagles Football Academy, 7v7 Tournaments) and grassroots partnerships (Leveling the Playing Field, Every Kid Sports, Positive Coaching Alliance) ensure that the game is being taught properly to inspire the next generation of athletes.

From March 2021 to March 2022, the Eagles youth football program impacted more than 89,000 kids and contributed a total value of approximately $2,150,000 in grants, equipment donations, experiences, and more.

GIRLS HIGH SCHOOL FLAG FOOTBALL LEAGUE

To support and promote female participation in sport, the Eagles launched the state's first Girls High School Flag Football League, featuring schools from the Philadelphia

Public and Catholic Leagues. The goal of the multi-year program is to make girls flag football an officially sanctioned sport in the state of Pennsylvania.

SPORTS BRA DONATION

The Eagles purchased $100,000 worth of sports bras (6,000 total) and distributed them through the team's nonprofit partner, Leveling the Playing Field.

The Eagles became the first NFL team to support female youth athletes in this capacity. The purchase of the 6,000 sports bras are enough to outfit every female athlete in the Philadelphia School District.

YOUTH FOOTBALL RECOGNITION

LINCOLN FINANCIAL FIELD

JANUARY 10, 2023

In early December, three Philadelphia youth football teams competed in the 2022 AAU National Championship and the 2022 Pop Warner Super Bowl. The 11U West Philly Panthers, the 10U Downingtown Young Whippets, and the 12U Downingtown Young Whippets each won the championship for their respective divisions.

To show appreciation and support for youth football programs in the area, the Eagles invited the teams to Lincoln Financial Field for a celebration of their championship seasons. The day started with a stadium tour and concluded with a recognition ceremony in the Firsttrust Bank Club.

The Eagles are dedicated to inspiring the next generation of Eagles fans by increasing participation in youth football across the Greater Philadelphia area.

According to research, a child being matched with a caring adult, or mentor, can help heal youth that have been exposed to violence and trauma in their lives. In Southeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey alone, more than 1,200 young people, known as “Littles,” are waiting to be matched with mentors, known as “Bigs.”

To help recruit 100 new mentors, the Eagles and Big Brothers Big Sisters Independence (BBBSI) held a panel discussion for Lincoln Financial Group employees about the importance of mentorship on Tuesday, January 3.

Since 1915, BBBSI has been creating and supporting one-to-one mentoring relationships that ignite the power and promise of youth.

As part of the NFL's Inspire Change platform to reduce barriers to opportunity and advance social justice, the Eagles named CHOP's Dr. Ruth Abaya as the team's inaugural Changemaker Award recipient.

Boston Scott, Eagles Cheerleaders, and SWOOP surprised her with the award on Tuesday, December 27, at CHOP's Roberts Center for Pediatric Research.

In recognition of her work treating young children who have been impacted by gun violence, Dr. Abaya was presented with a $50,000 grant from the Eagles Social Justice Fund, an additional $10,000 from the Eagles and NFL Foundation, and two tickets to Super Bowl LVII.

Dr. Abaya works as an attending physician in the emergency department at CHOP.

According to research, access to computers and technology equips individuals – especially young adults – with the tools needed to fully immerse oneself in the economic, political, and social aspects of the world. Many, though, do not have access to these resources.

To address the digital divide in our communities, the Eagles and Comcast helped Hopeworks open its new career development facility in Kensington on Monday, December 19. Founded in 1999, Hopeworks focuses on skill development, real-world job experience, and trauma-informed care to help propel young adults into long-term living wage careers.

Additionally, through the NFL’s Digital Divide program, the Eagles made a $15,000 donation to support Hopeworks’ mission.

The Eagles, Philadelphia 76ers, Fanatics CEO Michael Rubin, award-winning musician Meek Mill, and REFORM Alliance came together on Tuesday, December 13, to create a special, once-in-a-lifetime experience for 33 area-based children who have been negatively impacted by the criminal justice system.

The afternoon kicked off with an Eagles Junior Combine where the children were put to the test by going through a number of football drills. Following the combine, attendees received an exclusive VIP tour of the NovaCare Complex and then signed one-day contracts with the team, making them all honorary Eagles for the day.

REFORM Alliance is a national nonprofit committed to transforming probation and parole by changing laws, systems, and culture to create real pathways to work and well-being.

To provide area-based children experiencing poverty and homelessness with essential items for the winter season, the Eagles volunteered at Cradles to Crayons' Giving Factory Warehouse on Tuesday, December 6.

Eagles players sorted through donated items, packaged customized kits for families, and wrote encouraging messages of hope for children during the visit.

A 2013 Eagles Care partner, Cradles to Crayons provides children from birth through age 12, living in homeless or low-income situations, with the essential items they need to thrive – at home, at school, and at play. Founded in 2002, Cradles to Crayons supplies these items free of charge by engaging and connecting communities.

On September 27, 2022, shots were fired at Roxborough High School following a scrimmage between the Roxborough, Boys Latin Charter, and Northeast high school football teams.

On Tuesday, November 29, the Eagles and Positive Coaching Alliance (PCA) invited the football teams to Lincoln Financial Field for a special workshop, lunch, and panel discussion. Eagles players were in attendance and spent the afternoon sharing life experiences and offering their support to the students affected by the tragic event.

A 2022 Eagles Care partner, PCA is a catalyst for a positive youth sports culture, providing research-based training and resources for coaches, parents, athletes, and leaders to ensure a positive youth development experience for all kids through sports.

Eagles rookies spent time volunteering in MANNA’s kitchen, helping to prepare medically tailored meals for members of the community on Monday, November 21.

MANNA is an essential service that relies on volunteers to assist in the kitchen chopping vegetables, cooking and baking, prepping, packaging, and delivering meals to clients.

MANNA was selected by the team as an official Eagles Care community partner in 2016 to help amplify their work in the Greater Philadelphia region.

Now part of the Eagles Care network, MANNA continues to work closely with the team on community outreach events and utilizes their newfound strengths to assist future partners and charitable organizations.

Putting students in a position to succeed both academically and socially depends, in part, on their ability to develop strong, sustaining relationships.

To support community values and good mental health among children and adolescents, the Eagles hosted a virtual Character Playbook session with local middle school students on Tuesday, November 15. Brandon Graham guided a conversation centered around mental wellness, resolving conflicts, and violence prevention.

Character Playbook plays an important role in building healthy and supportive school communities by equipping students with skills to manage their relationships and by establishing community values around supporting and respecting others.

According to the American Cancer Society, the best defense against cancer is detecting it early when it is most treatable. In honor of the NFL and American Cancer Society's Crucial Catch campaign, the Eagles helped bring attention to the importance of getting screened early for cancer at Women's Football Festival on Tuesday, October 11.

Guests joined Eagles players, team legends, SWOOP, and Eagles Cheerleaders for football drills, games, cheer/dance clinics, and to learn about the benefits of getting an annual screening.

The Eagles then presented the American Cancer Society with a $10,000 grant to support their efforts around early detection and risk reduction of cancer. For more information, please visit NFL.com/causes/crucial-catch.
