

JEFF STOUTLAND

RUN GAME COORDINATOR/OFFENSIVE LINE

NFL Experience: 10th Year (10th with Eagles)
College: Southern Connecticut State Hometown: New York, NY

SUPER BOWL CHAMPION: 2017 (LII)

One of the most respected offensive line coaches in the country, Jeff Stoutland enters his 10th season with the Philadelphia Eagles. He is the longest-tenured member of the Eagles' coaching staff.

Stoutland, who boasts 39 years of coaching experience, has developed some of the league's most prolific offensive lines, tutoring Pro Bowl players during each of his first nine seasons in Philadelphia. He is one of only five offensive line coaches since the 1970 NFL merger to produce Pro Bowlers in at least nine consecutive years with the same team, joining Jim McNally (1981-91, Bengals), Mike Solari (1997-2005, Chiefs), Hudson Houck (1993-2001, Cowboys) and Oliver Spence (1970-78, Raiders).

In total, Stoutland has led five players to 17 Pro Bowls – guard Brandon Brooks (2018-20), tackle Lane Johnson (2018-20), center Jason Kelce (2015, '17, '20-22), guard Evan Mathis (2014-15) and tackle Jason Peters (2014-17). Kelce (five) and Brooks (three) have each received the most Pro Bowl nods at their position in franchise history, while Peters is the only Eagles tackle to ever earn four consecutive Pro Bowl accolades.

Additionally, Stoutland has helped four players to nine All-Pro honors – Johnson (2017, '21), Kelce (2017-19, '21), Mathis (2013) and Peters (2013-14). Kelce is one of only two centers in NFL history to win a Super Bowl and be named first-team All-Pro four times, joining Pro Football Hall of Famer Mike Webster. He is also one of just seven players in team history (one of three offensive linemen) to earn four first-team All-Pro selections.

Philadelphia's offensive lines have featured three Pro Bowlers on four occasions, including twice under Stoutland – 2014 (Kelce, Mathis, and Peters) and 2019 (Brooks, Johnson, and Kelce). Stoutland has coached three of the six Eagles offensive lines with multiple All-Pro players as well – 2013 (Mathis and Peters), 2017 (Johnson and Kelce) and 2021 (Johnson and Kelce).

Stoutland's unit has helped Philadelphia establish numerous franchise records, including points (474 in 2014), rushing yards (2,715 in 2021), rushing touchdowns (25 in 2021), total touchdowns (54 in 2014) and third-down percentage (45.7 pct. in 2021). His offensive line also blocked for the NFL's leading rusher – LeSean McCoy (1,607 yards) – during the 2013 season.

In 2017, Stoutland mentored Philadelphia's Super Bowl LII-winning offensive line. The Eagles, who produced a team-record-tying 13 wins en route to an NFC East championship and No. 1 seed in the playoffs, led the NFL in red zone offense (65.5 pct.) and ranked third in rushing offense (132.2 ypg) and offensive points per game (26.3).

During his time at Alabama, Stoutland's 2012 offensive line was viewed by many as the best in college football history. The group featured a pair of first-team All-Americans – center Barrett Jones and guard Chance Warmack – who helped pave the way to the Crimson Tide's second consecutive BCS National Championship. Under Stoutland's guidance, Jones won the Rimington Trophy (first player in school history voted as the nation's top center) in 2012 and Outland Trophy (nation's top interior lineman) in 2011. Center William Vlachos also garnered first-team All-SEC honors in 2011.

Prior to joining Alabama, Stoutland coached the offensive line at Miami (FL) from 2007-10 and was the team's interim head coach in the 2010 Sun Bowl. In his final year, he helped the Hurricanes lead the ACC in total offense (421.3 ypg) and finish third in rushing offense (182.5 ypg). Guard Brandon Washington and tackles Orlando Franklin and Jason Fox each collected all-conference honors under Stoutland before moving on to the NFL.

During his time at Michigan State (2000-06), Stoutland worked with six All-Big Ten players, including five who advanced to the NFL – tackle Ulish Booker, centers Kyle Cook and Chris Morris, and guards Tupe Peko and William Whitticker. The Spartans' offensive line played a key role in the nation's fifth-ranked offense in 2005. Michigan State finished 10th in the NCAA in rushing in 2004, allowing only eight sacks.

Stoutland spent three years as an assistant at Syracuse, coaching the tight ends from 1997-98 before taking over the offensive line in 1999. He developed first-team All-Big East tackle Mark Baniewicz and tight ends Roland Williams and Kaseem Sinceno.

From 1993-96, Stoutland tutored the offensive line at Cornell. He also held two stints with his alma mater, Southern Connecticut State, serving as the offensive coordinator (1988-92) and inside linebackers coach (1984-85). Between his stops with the Owls, Stoutland worked as a graduate assistant at Syracuse from 1986-87.

A three-year starter at inside linebacker at Southern Connecticut State, Stoutland earned All-America honors as a senior and was a team captain. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1984 and added a master's degree in exercise physiology in 1986.

A native of New York City, he and his wife, Allison, who is a published children's author, have two children, Jake and Madison.
