WESTERN CONFERENCE PLAYOFF

Sunday, December 22, 1957, at San Francisco
Kezar Stadium. Attendance - 60,118

Tobin Rote led the Lions back from a 27-7 San Francisco lead to win the Western Conference playoff. Y.A. Tittle threw three touchdown passes in the first half and completed 18 of 31 passes for 248 yards, but had three intercepted in the fourth quarter. Coach George Wilson's fiery halftime speech and overhearing a premature celebration in the San Francisco locker room inspired Detroit. Midway through the opening period Tittle lofted an alley-oop pass to R.C. Owens from the Lions' 34 for the game's first score. Three minutes later he hit Hugh McElhenny with a 47-yard TD pass. Rote led the Lions on a 61-yard drive in the second quarter and threw 4 yards to Steve Junker for a score, but the 49ers came back with an 88-yard drive and Tittle's third TD pass, a 12-yard strike to Billy Wilson. Gordy Soltau's 25-yard field goal gave San Francisco a 24-7 lead at the half. He added a third quarter field goal for a 20-point lead after McElhenny had broken loose for a 71-yard run on the first play of the second half. The 49ers then drove to the Detroit 27 but Tittle fumbled and the game turned. The Lions drove 73 yards in 9 plays with Tom Tracy cracking over from the one to cut the lead to 27-14. After a San Francisco punt, Tracy broke free and ran 58 yards for another score in the third quarter. Rote's 36-yard pass to Junker set up Gene Gedman's go-ahead TD from the two, 44 seconds into the fourth quarter. The 49ers had four possessions remaining but turned the ball over each time. Roger Zatkoff, Carl Karilivacz and Joe Schmidt each intercepted Tittle and Gill Mains recovered a fumble by Joe Perry. Jim Martin added a 13-yard field goal for the Lions, after Schmidt returned his pick to the San Francisco 2.

1957 NFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME Sunday, December 29, 1957, at Detroit Briggs Stadium. Attendance - 55,263

The Detroit Lions had to wait three years for the chance, but got sweet revenge for the 56-10 beating they had absorbed from Cleveland in the 1954 title game. Detroit's center, Frank Gatski, who had been a member of the Browns for 11 years, won his fourth NFL title and eighth professional championship. Bobby Layne missed the game with a broken ankle but his backup, Tobin Rote, had a sensational game in leading the Lions to 433 yards of offense. Rote completed 12 of 19 passes for 280 yards and 4 TDs and ran for another. Steve Junker and Jim Doran each caught passes for more than 100 yards. Cleveland's passers had five passes intercepted and the Browns lost two fumbles. Cleveland punted on its first drive and Detroit went 58 yards to open the scoring with Jim Martin's 31-yard field goal. Bob Long intercepted a Cleveland pass and returned it the Browns' 19. Rote ran to the one and scored on the next play. Then the Browns' Milt Campbell fumbled and Terry Barr recovered on the Cleveland 15. That set up Gene Gedman's 1-yard run and a 17-point Detroit lead after the first quarter. Cleveland got going in the second quarter and Jim Brown's 29-yard end run for a touchdown cut the lead to ten points. Later in the period Detroit went 87 yards in eleven plays and scored when Rote passed 26 yards to Steve Junker for a touchdown on a fake field goal play. Then Barr intercepted a Cleveland pass and scored from the 19. Detroit led 31-7 at the half. In the third quarter the Browns went 80 yards in ten plays and Lew Carpenter tallied on a 5-yard run. The Lions responded with two Rote to Doran TD passes for 78 and 23 yards and put the game out of reach at 45-14. Detroit scored again in the fourth quarter, one play after Gerry Perry recovered a Browns' fumble at Cleveland's 32. Rote threw his fourth touchdown pass to Dave Middleton. The Lions' last score came on Jerry Reichow's 16-yard TD pass to Howard Cassady.
