

ROY
ANDERSON

CORNERBACKS

NFL Experience: 17th Year (2nd with Eagles)
College: Howard Hometown: Tallahassee, FL

SUPER BOWL CHAMPION: 2024 (LIX)

Roy Anderson enters his second year as the cornerbacks coach of the Philadelphia Eagles after joining the team during the 2024 offseason.

In 2024, Anderson was a member of the Super Bowl LIX-winning coaching staff that helped the Eagles lead the league in total yards allowed per game (278.4 ypg) for the first time since 1991. In addition, Philadelphia finished first in passing defense (174.2 ypg), third in opponent passer rating (82.5) and sixth in opponent completion percentage (62.2 pct.).

Under Anderson’s guidance, the Eagles’ first and second-round draft choices – Quinyon Mitchell and Cooper DeJean – were named Associated Press NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year finalists. Mitchell was third among cornerbacks in forced incompletions (15, tied) and yards allowed per coverage snap (0.78) (min. 600 coverage snaps), while adding two postseason interceptions. DeJean, who recorded a pick-six in Super Bowl LIX, was the third-highest graded cornerback (82.7) by Pro Football Focus and did not allow a touchdown in coverage all season. Furthermore, Darius Slay ranked third among his position in forced incomplection percentage (20.6 pct.) and fourth in completion percentage allowed (48.5 pct.) (min. 50 targets).

In 2023, Anderson tutored two Pro Bowlers – cornerback Devon Witherspoon and safety Julian Love – as the Seattle Seahawks’ secondary coach. Witherspoon, who received PFWA All-Rookie recognition, posted the fifth-most passes defended (16) in the NFL while adding 79 tackles, three sacks, and one interception returned for a touchdown. Love registered 110 tackles with career highs in passes defended (10) and interceptions (four).

Before joining the Seahawks, Anderson spent three years as the Minnesota Vikings’ assistant defensive backs/safeties coach (2020-22). In 2022, safety Harrison Smith tied for fifth in the NFL in interceptions (five).

Anderson helped safety Xavier Woods play an impactful role on the defense in 2021, guiding him to three interceptions, which tied for the most on the team. Anderson also helped Smith garner his sixth Pro Bowl selection after logging 114 tackles, seven passes defended, and one interception.

Under Anderson’s guidance, Smith tallied a team-high five interceptions during the 2020 campaign, tying for the conference lead. Furthermore, cornerback Cameron Dantzler collected PFWA All-Rookie honors.

Anderson worked as the lead defensive analyst for LSU in 2019, when the Tigers went undefeated to win the BCS National Championship.

Prior to his lone season with LSU, Anderson spent 14 years in the NFL, primarily coaching defensive backs. From 2017-18, he worked with the Chicago Bears as an assistant defensive backs coach under Vic Fangio. In 2018, Anderson helped safety Eddie Jackson earn first-team All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors after ranking fourth in the NFL with six interceptions.

In 2016, Anderson coached the San Francisco 49ers’ safeties following a four-year tenure with the Indianapolis Colts (2012-15).

During his time with the Colts, Anderson helped safety Mike Adams receive consecutive Pro Bowl nods after the 2014-15 seasons. In 2015, Adams recorded five interceptions, including one touchdown, while adding 93 tackles and tying a career best with 11 passes defended. The veteran defensive back also tied for the league lead in takeaways with seven (career-high five interceptions, two fumble recoveries) during the 2014 season.

Anderson spent seven seasons with the Baltimore Ravens (2005-11) as a defensive assistant (2009-11), coaching assistant (2008), and player personnel assistant (2005-07). As a defensive assistant, Anderson handled quality
