After opening the season with a Week 1 victory over the Carolina Panthers, 59-37, Chicago fell to the Minnesota Vikings at home in Week 2. Through the first two weeks of the regular season, the Bears own the No. 1 rushing offense (212.5) in the NFL, ranking third in the league in total offense (424.5). Chicago owns 11 rushes of 10+ yards through the first two weeks, tied for the most in the NFL. In Week 1, the Bears registered a franchise-record for a season-opening game with 59 points scored, amassing 552 yards of total offense. Chicago's 59 points scored were the most by a Bears team in a single game since 1980, as the offensive unit tallied six rushing TDs, tied for the most in a single game in franchise history (1941).

Through the first two weeks of the regular season, Bears RB D'Andre Swift's three rushing TDs are the second-most by any player in the league, as RB Kyle Monangai's average of 7.35 yards per attempt is No. 1 in the NFL among qualified players. WR Kalif Raymond leads Chicago with 13 receptions through the first two games. Of Raymond's 13 grabs, six have been third-down receptions that have gone for first downs, as his six third-down conversions receiving are tied for the most by any individual in the NFL through the first two weeks of the regular season. Additionally, Raymond surpassed 2,000 career punt return yards in Week 2, owning the most punt return yards by any active player in the NFL.

Defensively, a pair of Bears rookies are off to a prominent start. DB Dillon Thieneman leads Chicago with 15 total tackles, the fourth-most total tackles by any rookie in the NFL through the first two weeks, and the most among all rookie DBs. DB Malik Muhammad has opened his rookie season with an INT in Week 1 and a sack in Week 2, becoming the first Bears rookie defensive back to collect an INT and a sack in their first two games in team history, and just the 10th NFL rookie DB to secure a sack and an INT within their first two games since the sack became an official statistic in 1982.

This season, the Bears are scheduled to appear in five primetime games and two standalone games, headlining seven premium regular-season matchups in 2026. Chicago's five scheduled primetime matchups tie for the most for the Bears since at least 2000. For the first time in franchise history, the Bears are scheduled to play games on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday in 2026. Returning to the Thanksgiving Day slate in 2026, Chicago is also set to appear on Christmas Day, headlining each of the two major holiday lineups in 2026. Chicago's schedule features a stretch of three-straight primetime games in Weeks 7, 8 and 9. The stretch of three-straight primetime games marks the first time that the Bears' regular-season schedule has featured three-straight primetime match-ups since at least the turn of the century.

The Bears will remain at home in Week 4, Chicago's third-straight home game, hosting the New York Jets. Kickoff along the Lakefront is set for Noon CT on FOX in Week 4.

In his first season as Head Coach of the Bears, Johnson led Chicago to an NFC North Division title and 12 total wins, including 11 in the regular season. Johnson became the first Head Coach in franchise history to win a postseason game in their first year at the helm, as his 12 victories tied for the most by a first-year Head Coach in the history of the Chicago Bears. Johnson's offense finished the regular season with the fewest giveaways in the NFL (11), and the second-most points scored off of takeaways in the league (104). The Bears registered the NFL's No. 3-ranked rushing offense in 2025 (144.5 rushing yards per game), as the unit's 127 Big Plays were the second-most by any team in the league. Over the final 10 weeks of the regular season, Chicago amassed 109 points in the fourth quarter and OT, the most by any team in the NFL. The Bears culminated the regular season with 441 points scored, third-most in a single season in franchise history.

Johnson joined the Bears after serving as Offensive Coordinator (2022-24) for the Detroit Lions, where he led one of the most prolific offenses in the National Football League. Named AP NFL Assistant Coach of the Year in 2024, Johnson's offensive unit averaged a franchise-record 409.5 yards per game, helping the Lions average a league-high 32.4 points per game and accumulate 68 total offensive touchdowns – the most by any team in the NFL. Each of his three seasons coordinating Detroit's offense (2022-24), Johnson's group has finished in the top-five in the league in total offense, including a No. 2 ranking in 2024. Over his final two seasons (2023-24), no unit averaged more points per game (30.1) or net yards per game (402.2) than Johnson's with the Detroit Lions. Prior to Detroit, Johnson served seven seasons on the staff of the Miami Dolphins, working under three different head coaches. Over his seven years in Miami, Johnson worked in the capacities of Offensive Assistant (2012), Assistant Quarterbacks Coach (2013-15), Tight Ends Coach (2015), Assistant Wide Receivers Coach (2016-17) and Wide Receivers Coach (2018).

A native of Asheville, N.C., Johnson was a walk-on quarterback at the University of North Carolina, earning degrees in mathematics and computer science. Johnson and his wife, Jessica, have three children – Emory, Kennedy and Halle.

NICK SIRIANNI

Eagles Head Coach

Overall Record:	67-30 (.691)
Reg. Season Record:	61-26 (.701)
Postseason Record:	6-4 (.600)
Record vs. Bears:	1-1 (.500)

Nick Sirianni was named the 21st full-time head coach in Eagles franchise history in January of 2021.

Sirianni was the only head coach to repeat as a division winner for the 2025 season, as the Eagles became the first team to win back-to-back NFC East pennants in over two decades (2001-04 Eagles) with a fourth consecutive 11-win campaign (tied for the longest streak in the league since 2022). The 2024 season culminated with the second Super Bowl title in franchise history, as Sirianni navigated the group to a 40-22 victory against the Kansas City Chiefs in Super Bowl LIX. Philadelphia, which scored the most points (145) in NFL postseason history, finished 18-3 on the year.

In 2023, Sirianni directed Philadelphia to an 11-6 record and a playoff bid, with the Eagles ranking among the league's top 10 in scoring (seventh, 25.5 ppg), total yards (eighth, 354.4 ypg), rushing yards (eighth, 128.8 ypg), third-down conversion rate (third, team-record 48.0 pct.) and red zone efficiency (ninth, 60.0 pct.). Guiding Philadelphia to a Super Bowl LVII appearance, Sirianni helped the team win 14 games for the first time in history in 2022. The Eagles developed franchise records in points (477), total touchdowns (59), scrimmage touchdowns (57), rushing touchdowns (32), tied for fourth in NFL history), as well as defensive sacks (70, tied for third in NFL history). In 2021, Sirianni's debut season as a head coach elicited a 9-8 record and postseason berth, with the Eagles capturing seven of the last 10 regular-season games to clinch a spot in the playoffs.

Prior to arriving in Philadelphia, Sirianni spent three years (2018-20) as the Indianapolis Colts' offensive coordinator. Before he joined Indianapolis, Sirianni was a member of the Los Angeles/San Diego Chargers' staff for five years (2013-17), including two seasons as the wide receivers coach (2016-17). Sirianni began his NFL coaching career with the Kansas City Chiefs, serving as the wide receivers coach (2012) and offensive quality control coach (2009-11).

A native of Jamestown, N.Y., Sirianni and his wife, Brett, have two sons, Jacob and Miles, and one daughter, Taylor.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR TEAM

- By holding the Eagles to zero touchdown in Week 3, the Bears would hold their opponent without a touchdown in back-to-back games for the first time since 2005
- Could win consecutive NFC North titles for the first time since the 2005-06 seasons
- By leading the NFL in takeaways, would become the first team since the 1973-74 Steelers to do so in consecutive seasons
- Could become the first team since 2020-21 to finish back-to-back seasons with the fewest turnovers in the NFL

HC BEN JOHNSON

- With a NFC North Title, would become the first modern era Bears Head Coach to win their division in each of their first two seasons
- A playoff birth of any kind, would make him the first modern era Bears Head Coach to reach the postseason in his first two seasons.
- Needs eight wins to set the Bears franchise record for most wins in a Head Coaches first two seasons (20, postseason included)

QB CALEB WILLIAMS

- With 11 or fewer interceptions in the 2026 season, Williams would have the fewest through three seasons in NFL history
- With five fourth-quarter comebacks, Williams would surpass Derek Carr (12) for most fourth-quarter comebacks by a QB in their first three seasons in the NFL
- With one touchdown pass before his next thrown interception, would be the third quarterback in NFL history to throw his 50th touchdown before his 15th interception

TE COLSTON LOVELAND

- With 700 receiving yards, would become the third tight end in NFL history to have 700+ receiving yards in each of his first two seasons (Mike Ditka, Sam LaPorta)
- With at least five receiving touchdowns, would rank inside the top-five for receiving touchdowns by a Bears player in their first two seasons

TE COLE KMET

- Needs 26 receiving yards to reach 3,000 for his career
- With 27 receptions, would pass TE Mike Ditka for the most receptions by a tight end in Bears franchise history

RB D'ANDRE SWIFT

- With 56 rushing yards, would reach 5,000 rushing yards for his career
- With two rushing TDs in Week 3, would become the first player in Bears history to rush for five touchdowns in the first three games of a season. Would be the fifth time that an NFL player has accomplished this feat since 2012

SWIFT AND RB KYLE MONANGAI

- With 31 rushing yards Swift would reach 200 on the season, with 53 Monangai would also reach 200, if both reach the mark on Monday night they would become the first Bears duo to each rush for 200 yards within the first three weeks of the season since 1978 (Payton & Harper)

WR/RET KALIF RAYMOND

- With 322 receiving yards, would reach 3,000 for his career

OL JOE THUNEY

- With starts in all 17 games this season, ThuneY would set the NFL record for most starts in a players first 11 NFL seasons with 180
- With 12 more starts, would reach 200 in his career (postseason included)

DL MONTEZ SWEAT

- With 10 sacks this season, would become the first Bears player to have back-to-back 10 sack seasons since 2011-12 (Julius Peppers)

LB T.J. EDWARDS

- With 76 total tackles, would reach 800 for his career

K CAIRO SANTOS

- With 92 points, will reach 1,250 for his career
- With 72 points, would pass Walter Payton for third on the Bears all-time scoring list
